SCHOOL Supt. HORTON PREPARES FOR SEASON

Another Resignation From Staff—New Principal to Arrive Saturday.

Supt. D. W. Horton of the local public schools is a busy man these days perfecting arrangements for the opening of the schools under his jurisdiction, Sept. 5. There will be several changes in the teaching staff, but with the exception of one or two, these have already been made. Miss Edna Hockett, teacher in the English department at the high school, sent in her resignation Thursday, having secured a similar position in the high school at Butte, Mont. This vacancy as well as that caused by the resignation of Miss Helen Howe, who is being replaced by the time the school season opens.

Principal Dan Eikenberry, who has been appointed to the position made vacant by the promotion of Mr. Horton, will arrive Saturday and will at once get in touch with the situation. Mr. Eikenberry was formerly principal in the high school at Muncie, and has spent much of his time this summer studying at the Chicago university. His home at present is in Kokomo.

It is understood that Supt. Horton will endeavor to obtain a new gymnasium for the high school this fall, in an effort to still further encourage athletics among the students.

"BLAZING LOVE" AT THE TEMPLE TODAY

There is many an exciting moment in "Blazing Love", the latest production presented by William Fox, in which Virginia Pearson heads the bill in the character of a wife, twice married and thrice in love. The problems of her part form an interesting study to all men and women, for they are every-day problems.

"Blazing Love", will be shown at the Temple theatre today. "The Blazing of Musty Suffer", also starts today. This is said to be real comedy of the better kind, which will be shown every Friday.

MOTORIST INJURED BY BURSTING TIRE

Hammond Contractor Given Surprise When Rim Hits Him on Forehead.

The bursting of a tire at the James Fallon vulcanizing works, 125 S. Main st., and the subsequent injuries to J. L. Parker of the Parker Construction Co., Hammond, Ind., Thursday afternoon, caused no little excitement around the corner of Main and Third sts.

Mr. Parker stopped to have one of the tires on his car repaired, and was in the act of mounting a tire when it exploded with a report that could be heard blocks away. The rim struck Mr. Parker on the forehead and knocked him senseless, inflicting an ugly gash on his forehead. He was given immediate attention by Mr. Fallon and soon afterward was sufficiently recovered to continue his journey. The noise of the bursting tire attracted a large crowd to the scene.

MISSIONARY FROM INDIA TO PREACH

Rev. B. E. Robinson of Hanyang, China, a returned missionary of East China will be in Mishawaka Sunday evening and have charge of the union services at the First Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock. There will be no missionary offering at this meeting.

The union meeting of the Young People's society will be held at the Winery hall Sunday evening at 6:15 o'clock.

Rev. Howard Leonard, pastor of the First Baptist church at Columbia City, Ind., will preach at the Sunday morning services at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Leonard is a former Mishawaka resident and has many friends here.

NEAR THREE TAKES PURSE.

A sneak thief picked up the purse of Mrs. Jack Wambaugh, 314 N. Main st., which had dropped under the seats at the Coop and Lent circus Thursday afternoon, and made good his escape. About $2 was in the bag.

OPEN WITHOUT PERMIT.

Judge Van Fleet claimed that the license of John Kronewitter was revoked in July, 1915, because he had disobeyed the Sunday and holiday closing ordinance, and had been caught selling liquor on those days. It was shown that the saloon was closed for six months. During that time John Kronewitter transferred his license to his brother Charles. This was illegal, according to Judge Van Fleet, who argued that a revoked license cannot be transferred, as it is void. Charles Kronewitter in the meantime applied to the board for a renewal, one month after the license had expired, which was granted. This, testified the judge, was an error on the part of the commissioners, for he claimed that it was not a renewal but an application for a new license. After Kronewitter had been granted the state permit, he and his attorneys, as was brought out in court, failed to tender the money within five days to Mr. Kimball. The board issued his license on July 3, and during the term allowed by law up to July 5, no one had offered the money to the city treasurer. Again Kronewitter violated the law, as he had kept open since that time without either state or city license, laying himself open to prosecution by the state on the charge of operating a saloon without the necessary permits, commonly called a "blind tiger".

INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS.

Injunction proceedings were taken up by Kronewitter soon after the commissioners granted him the permit to operate. He claimed in his affidavit that city police acting on orders from the mayor and the chief of police would continually trespass upon his property. They would enter the saloon and buy drinks, and at times would take the names of his customers. This caused him no little trouble, and, so he claimed, caused a noticeable decrease in his business. Judge Ford granted a temporary restraining order. Later, attorneys Ferguson and McKibben endeavored to get an injunction keeping the police away from the saloon until the case is settled, which will be on the docket of the Elkhart court for the coming fall session, before Judge Funk, but this was denied them. Judge Funk sustained the city in its contention that Kronewitter had no right to operate.

Since then the case has been venued several times. Court convened yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The morning session was taken up with the reading of affidavits. At 1:15 o'clock court resumed sessions. Arguments were heard by the attorneys. At four o'clock Judge Harmon rendered his decision.

One rumor gives it that the case may be dropped, while another is that Kronewitter is ready to fight to the finish.

KRONEWITTER BEATEN IN INJUNCTION SUIT

Judge J. L. Harmon of Elkhart County Superior Court Decides in Favor of City.

Judge J. L. Harmon of the Elkhart county superior court, in a special hearing of the famous Kronewitter vs. Mayor Ralph Gaylor and the city of Mishawaka saloon license case, held in the superior court rooms at Elkhart yesterday, handed down his decision in favor of the defendants. He ordered that the temporary restraining mandamus granted Kronewitter by Judge George Ford, to keep the city officials, as he claimed they were doing, from bothering his business until the suit is settled, be dissolved. This is the third time the city has beaten Kronewitter. The case which has caused no little interest throughout the county, is one in which the latter, a saloon keeper at 314 S. Wells st., wishes to force the city officials to grant him a city permit, claiming that they must do so after the county board of commissioners gave him the right to operate. During litigation, Kronewitter opened his saloon and when the police attempted to close it he secured a temporary restraining order from Judge Ford. Since that time he has been endeavoring to get an injunction against the city to keep its officials from molesting his trade. This was denied him Thursday.

Argue On Fee Question.

According to the state statute, a saloon keeper, when granted a license by the county commissioners must tender a certain amount to the city as its fee within five days after the board's decision. In his testimony, ex-Judge Vernon Van Fleet of the superior court, Sunday and holiday closing ordinance, and showed how it was that neither Kronewitter or his attorneys, Stuart McKibben and P. C. Ferguson, tendered the customary fee of $500 to city treasurer, W. L. Kimball, within the time specified by law. Judge Van Fleet argued that after the five day limit had expired and the money had not been paid, the state permit became void and that Kronewitter could not secure another license for two years. He also contended that the commissioners had no jurisdiction to grant the saloon-keeper permission to operate after Mayor Gaylor had revoked his license.

Open Without Permit.

Judge Van Fleet claimed that the license of John Kronewitter was revoked in July, 1915, because he had disobeyed the Sunday and holiday closing ordinance, and had been caught selling liquor on those days. It was shown that the saloon was closed for six months. During that time John Kronewitter transferred his license to his brother Charles. BLACK RUST PLAYING HAVOC WITH HARVEST

From a crop of 40 to 50 bushels of wheat to the acre harvested last year in Myrtle, Manitoba, Canada, to 15 or 20 this year is the news contained in a letter received Friday from William Van Kirk to Councilman George Zimmertman. The former, previous to his going to Canada, was employed in the Enterprise office. He states that the decrease has been caused by black rust, which is more general throughout the Canadian northwest than it has been for years. Mr. Van Kirk stated that they have just finished plowing and are now busy in the fields. The harvest, on account of the rust, has not been as early as usual, on account of the blight. On account of the heavy dews the farm workers are unable to begin work in the field until 8:30 o'clock in the morning and are compelled to work until 5:30 o'clock in the evening.

The former Mishawakan says that wages in the harvest fields are high. Men shocking wheat receive $3 a day and board, and other workers in the fields are paid even higher wages.

OLD RESIDENT HERE DIES FRIDAY MORNING

Mrs. Andrew Woolf, 206 W. Eighth st., died Friday morning at 2:30 o'clock, following an illness of four weeks. Death was caused by complications.

Mrs. Woolf was well known here, having lived in Mishawaka for the past 16 years, moving here from New Carlisle. She was married about 32 years ago, her maiden name being Mary Jane Curran. She was born Oct. 18, 1852, in Kingston, Canada.

She is survived by her husband, two sons, Bert and Jesse, two daughters, Mrs. Arthur Spennett and Mrs. James Sage, all residing here. Two sisters, Mrs. Anna Phillips of Standley, Wis., and Mrs. Joel Pearson of Glendon, Mich., also survive.

The funeral will be held from the residence Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Spangler officiating. Burial will be made at the Hamilton cemetery, near New Carlisle.

BIG METRO FEATURE AT LINCOLN TODAY

"The Come Back", a strong Metro production will be seen at the Lincoln theatre today. This is a story of a young man who, after being a dissipated young man just out of college, realizes the error of his ways and goes to the Northern Maine woods where he becomes a real man, and redeems himself. No cost was spared to obtain local color for this picture, the atmosphere of wild life is redolent, the primitive woods of Maine. One of the striking features is a realistic fight in the snow in which Harold Lockwood and the bully of the camp, figure. Miss Allison is also seen with Mr. Lockwood in a perilous expedition over a mountain trail on snow shoes. An accomplished hunter, he is obliged to learn for this excellent Metro, Saturday, Dorothy Gish and Owen Moore will be seen at the Lincoln in "Susan Riek the Beat", a Triangle feature.

HELP GIVEN MAN AFTER 3 YEARS

John O'Connor of Michigan City, Tells of Relief He Derived From Tanlac.

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 24.—"I feel better since taking Tanlac than I've felt for more than three years," John O'Connor, owner of a saloon at 209 Franklin street, this city, said on Aug. 18.

"For a long time I was bothered with rheumatism," Mr. O'Connor continued. "My ankles would swell until they would be two or three times the normal size, I could hardly walk and for weeks at a time I had to remain in bed. The rheumatism finally went over my entire body. At times I couldn't sleep at all."

"I've finished my first bottle of Tanlac now and I've gained more benefit from it than from all the other medicines I ever tried. The swellings in my ankles are nearly gone now. In fact, by tomorrow, I believe the swellings will have disappeared entirely. I sleep peacefully through the night now and I want to recommend Tanlac because of what it has done for me."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, loss of appetite, bloating and belching, indigestion, constipation, the mouth and throat, tired feeling and the like and is a fine strength builder, giving strength and health to weak, run down men and women.

Tanlac is now being introduced in Mishawaka at the Red Cross Pharmacy where a special Tanlac representative is explaining the new medicine to the public.—Adv.
